POST EDGE

HOLLYWOOD GRAND OPENING A HIT!

by Melanie Morningstar

Post Edge, one of South Florida's largest and most prestigious video-post production companies, opened its newest facility this month at the Presidential Circle building in Hollywood, Florida.

The "South Florida Museum of Entertainment" was unveiled there. This is the first archive of its type to chronicle the entertainment industry. The museum will display movie posters, autographed photos, television and movie memorabilia, of more than 300 pieces. Ken Lorber, president of Post Edge commented "Our new facility is a tribute to the rich entertainment industry in South Florida, past, present and future".

Miami International Studios' Deeny Kaplan, Max Lorber, Bahamas Film Commissioner Grace Hart-Hill and Ed Caron at the Post Edge Hollywood grand opening party.
